Nursing

Nursing

This summer school is aimed at pre and post registration nurses and will deliver a broad range of teaching delivered by expert lecturers and practitioners. You will also have the opportunity to visit some of the leading NHS facilities in Scotland and Europe. These activities will be combined with a programme of cultural and social activities which will allow you to sample life as a student in Scotland. You will receive a certificate of attendance or transferable degree level credits for your study here.

Clinical Research

In this summer school you will explore the international development of clinical research and apply this to how research is conducted. You will also examine the ethical aspects of clinical research and how these impact on clinical research practice. There will be an opportunity to spend some time observing Clinical Research Nurses in Edinburgh; allowing you to make the link between theory and practice. The content is delivered by experienced research educators/clinicians and will enhance your understanding of this topic.

Postgraduate Research

This unique post graduate research summer school will help improve your research skills and is aimed at students with a basic degree who would like to effectively undertake, critique and publish healthcare research into the future. Led by international experts the summer school will provide opportunities for students to participate in interactive workshops, expert lectures, one to one coaching, and site visits to health care settings. On completion of the summer school you should have improved your skills, knowledge and competence to further your research career or next step in your post-graduate education. Credit rating can be provided for this activity.
